were announced, and it was estimated that the grand total had reached $225,-600,000 at the close of business, includ-ing subscriptions filed but not announced in the interest of the loan on Monday, and those in the mails on the way to the Liberty Loan headquarters at 120 Broadway to be officially entered.

The unofficial total, which includes ubscriptions actually tabulated and applications announced during the five days reached $192,739,000 night, but less than one-third of the banks of the district had been heard from when this total was compiled, and no account whatever was taken of the subscriptions in transit to the Federal Reserve Bank. The total of applications received, accompanied with the initial 2 per cent., mounted slowly to $53,689,000 during the day. This figure is not expected to grow rapidly until the last few days of the campaign.

Up-State Alda Golden Stream.

Although the estimated total is still something like $85,000,000 below official calculations for the first five days, the note of pessimism that was evident at the headquarters on the previous day had entirely disappeared yesterday. Re-ports from the up-State, the twelve northern counties of New Jersey and northern counties of New Jersey and Fairfield county, Connecticut, which compose the remainder of the Second Federal Reserve District, indicated these sections are doing even better than New York city. Newark, whose maximum quota has been placed at $31,050,000, already has subscribed $7,218,400, or approximately 23 per cent. of its quota. Stamford has taken 44 per cent.; Ballston Sea N. Yahout. ton Spa, N. Y., about 24 per cent., and Ramsey, N. J., 35 per cent. Reports from Albany. Schenectady. Utica and Buffalo indicated rapid strides and the bank reports from the smaller towns were more encouraging. Rochester re-ported subscriptions of $5,000,000, or about 16 per cent, of its allotment, about 16 per cent. of its allotment.

This same optimism is also evident in all parts of the country. The most encouraging reports in this connection came to the committee from the Clevelland district, one of the most active in the first Liberty Loan campaign. This district has already raised a considerable portion of its $500,000,000 maximum allotment, and the Liberty Loan committee of that district is absolutely convinced that this figure will be reached without trouble.
